ASIA HEALTHCARE OPERATIONS SUMMIT TO END WITH DELIGHT

Kuala Lumpur, March 22, 2011 - Asia's leading conference for healthcare operations and maintenance begins today.

Asia Healthcare Operations Summit will take place through on Wednesday at Parkroyal Hotel, Kuala Lumpur. The conference, in its second year, has managed to attract more than 50 organizations with over 100 attendees. We have the privilege of having Ministry of Health, Malaysia to be on-board with us as an endorser for the second time.

In helping healthcare practitioners to stay in touch with the latest new and technology, ASIA Healthcare Operations Summit aims to deliver the utmost satisfaction to the attendees. This round, the topics such as effective patient and process flow management, medical information and records management, discharge management, quality management and patient safety, managing human assets, performance measurement, facilities management and maintenance, medication management and safety, as well as medical tourism will be covered and delivered in a series of case study presentations, panel discussions and streamed sessions. It will cater the public and private sector healthcare throughout this fast-paced and power-packed 3-day event.

ASIA Healthcare has sealed the deals with eminent panel of speakers like Amir Firdaus Abdullah, Chief Executive Officer of Gleneagles Intan Medical Centre, Professor Philip Choo, Chief Executive Officer of Tan Tock Seng Hospital, Singapore, Dato' Dr. Chan Kok Ewe, Director of Island Hospital, Malaysia, Professor Teo Eng Kiong, Deputy Chairman Medical Board & chief of Gastroenterology, Changi General Hospital, Singapore, and many others. (Full list of speakers are available on separate attachment)

According to Project Manager, Sangeetha Silvaratnam, "Healthcare operations management has become a major topic for healthcare professionals and service providers. Ensuring effective operations and productivity in hospitals are crucial for efficient delivery of healthcare services. There are many huge general healthcare events being organized in countries like Singapore, India and Hong Kong, but there are very few that focuses on just healthcare operations. This is what makes our events different from the rest out there. New topics such as patient flow management and clinical capacity planning will also be discussed in the next year event. We have also incorporated a 1 day intensive workshop on Evidence Based Practices for Chief Nursing Officers and Chief Matrons."

The event was officiated by Y.B. Datuk Rosnah Shirlin binti Haji Abdul Rashid Shirlin, Deputy Minister of Health, Malaysia.
